ON A PILGRIMAGE

arranged a party of about seventy-five of the excursionists started for the volcano.

Thursday evening a reception was tendered by the pilgrims to the people of Hilo on board the Zealandia. This was very largely attended. This afternoon there is a picnic in progress in entertainment of the pilgrims by the people of Hilo and it will be followed by a dance tonight in a very elaborately planned and decorated pavilion in front of the hotel.

People have come into Hilo from all over the island to welcome the visitors and to take in the entertainment. This is one of the biggest affairs that ever took place in Hilo and the large number of strangers here reminds Kamaaina of the time in 1881 when Princess Bath came here with a big suite to offer sacrifices to Pele and stop the big lava flow.

About eighty Shriners heard the elements on Thursday and took the volcano trip. They didn't run across any hot and burning sands.

Business houses generally displayed flags and were more or less decorated in honor of the arrival of the Moslems. The decoration partook largely of an Oriental character.

THE "MOSLEM NEWS" AND ITS PERSONALITIES

The first newspaper published on ship-board in the Pacific was the Moslem Herald, a four-page daily made up of the daily happenings of the voyage, liberally supplemented by advertisements and boiler plates. The staff consists of (des. F. Neal editor; Mrs. S. E. Rasmus, vice-president; Mrs. L. Danakin, treasurer; Mrs. Thos. H. Brown, secretary. The subscription rates are $1 to pilgrims, and the advertising rates "all we can get." Cable address, "Islam," Phone, Niu 101.

As the editorials have no reference to politics, it would seem to be a millionaires sheet, though it shows no other symptoms of the disease except the name.

Following are a few literary gems culled from the various issues of the Zealandia's hand press:

"Beer is the best drink for people traveling on the ocean, as it tastes the same going up or down."

"Lost—What we had for breakfast and lots of other things."

"Noble Frank Johnson, sheriff of Sacramento, arrested the Zealandia last night at 9:30 for being a high roller, standing the passengers up and making them disgorge."

"A pretty sight was seen this morning when the flying fish swarmed aboard the vessel. One of them flew down the forest of Noble Warren Payne, and that is what makes him so dry."

"My mother says if I do not get married as a result of this trip she is going to leave me home hereafter."

"Thanks to the good angel who made us a call at 11 a. m. today, and brought crackers and oranges. Come again, Ma."

"A voice from the other side of the partition as hands clasp hands: 'Why is a kiss under these circumstances like a straw hat? Because it is not felt.'"

"The motto of this pilgrimage: 'Keep down everything but your courage.'"

"I gave up everything but hope."—Mrs. Kennedy.

PERSONS COMING ON THE SHRINERS' EXCURSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 11.—The members of Islam Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine who will not go on the excursion to the Hawaiian Islands tendered a reception in Golden Gate Hall last night to those who are going by the Zealandia, which leaves at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon. There were about four hundred present, all bedecked with jewels of the order and wearing the red fez, without which Shriners do not feel at home.

A special feature of the reception was the introduction of twenty-three strangers to the mysteries of the temple and a pilgrimage of devious ways to the throne of the potatote. It was an evening of jollity that was supplemented by a banquet where there was plenty of substantial and keen in the character of zenzema. During the evening an orchestra rendered number of selections and there were responses to impromptu toasts by J. G. Roswell, General C. M. H. y Aguirre, I. Mexico, H. H. Williams, A. W. Baker Jr., of Boston, H. H. Miller of Philadelphia, A. P. Coler of Dallas, G. B. Granger of Boston and L. J. Baker of Memphis.

The festivities closed with wishes for a pleasant journey and a jolly good time for all the pilgrims.

The Zealandia, which leaves from Pacific street wharf, will have as passengers the following named:

R. P. Hurlbut, J. H. Goldman and wife, A. E. Gunn, wife and daughter; B. D. Ke and wife, J. A. Marsh and wife, M. Lawton, J. G. Spaulding and wife, G. F. Neal, Mrs. S. Danakin, Mrs. S. Neal, Mrs. M.
